Hell Week

They used to call it hell week because out of town college kids coming in gangs to spend their Easter vacation here simply raised hell. They still call it hell week, but with a difference. Now it's hell on the kids—the few who misbehave.

The tide started turning about ten years ago, after a specially disastrous hell week, when real estate agents got together and promised one another that never again would they rent a cottage, or a room, to a gang of unchaperoned kids, and only groups of kids who had previously established a reputation of good behavior here for their sorority or frat would find accommodations in Carmel. That stopped the vandalism to rented rooms and cottages.

There was still the problem of the youngsters who came to occupy their parents' or their parents' friends' summer cottages, got themselves as drunk as adults, and roamed around town in their cars, creating disturbances and becoming a traffic menace.

Several years ago Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann worked out a way to handle that. Carmel police pulled drunken kids into the police station and phoned their parents in Stockton, San Francisco, San Luis Obispo—wherever—at midnight, 2:00 o'clock in the morning, just on the spur of the moment, whenever they happened to pick up the kids, and told the parents to come and get them. This has proved extremely effective. That particular bunch of kids didn't come back next year.

This year the Carmel Police Department worked on the ounce of prevention principle. They stopped cars loaded with kids and searched. Total bag for the week: 18 arrests, eight over 18 years old who were booked as adults had to cope with Judge Ray Baugh in Municipal Court and pay fines ranging from $25 to $50; the rest, juveniles, who received the phone the parents treatment. In most cases the kids weren't drunk. They hadn't had time to get around to it. The charge was "possession." Average take per car was four or five cans of beer, or a half pint of whisky. In all cases, with a notable exception, the defendants were boys. The exception was a 21 year old girl from Seattle who had purchased beer for several 17 year old boys and a 20 year old girl, and was helping them consume it on the beach. The boys were from Berkeley and were not previously acquainted with the girls. They and the 20 year old girl got the phone the parents treatment. The 21 year old girl, an adult, had to answer to Judge Ray Baugh in municipal court.

Only 10 kids in trouble, and the town full of kids who are behaving themselves and are as welcome, so far as we're concerned, as the spring flowers. We like seeing them around. And we like our Carmel Police Department's methods. There's only room for so many kids in this town at Easter time; by a consistent pursuit of their policy, the police are succeeding in discouraging the undesirables, leaving what living space there is here for the sort of kids we're happy to have with us.

And there is a space problem, a shortage of accommodations for the kids can afford. Police Chief Clyde

Baron Wolf Erhardt Anton George Trutzchler Von Falkenstein Here For Week End - Who? Oh, Wolo -

"Happiness," said Wolo on his latest visit to Carmel, "is our business. We take our responsibility for dispelling gloom very seriously. At the same time, we are happy as long as we can keep others happy, especially the kids."

Wolo was speaking for himself and his famous clan, which includes his wife Lydia, known to young fans as "the mouse lady," his puppet Aloysius, veteran of several thousand net-work television shows, and Al's sister Petita, the only puppet ever "born and brought up" on television.

They were all here for the weekend while Wolo, who is a writer and illustrator of children's books as well as one of the country's foremost puppeteers, began preliminary sketches for his new series of books, Adventures of Aloysius.

Aloysius, who is technically as a "mouse cat" will cavort during his Adventures amid the scenic attractions of the Monterey Peninsula, for which Wolo has a long-standing fondness.

Throughout the numerous years Wolo has been gaining fame on the West Coast, first as a cartoonist for the San Francisco Chronicle, then in Hollywood film circles and later as a TV star, he's always found time to come back to the Peninsula and Monterey County, leaving in his wake several memorable samples of his whimsical work.

He, for instance, sketched the villain for the souvenir program of the California First Theatre at the time of its reopening in 1937, a program still on view in the showcase in Monterey. His sketches have appeared in the Pine Cone and one of his murals brightens the walls of the waiting room for expectant fathers in Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital.

The murals are something Wolo especially enjoys doing. Calling himself a "therapeutic artist," he has brought similar lasting cheer

Carmel Lad Fires Mortar Cannon In Town Plaza

Why couldn't he wait until Fourth of July or New Year's? With the police and everybody succeeding in weeding out the hell week undesirables so that the community is getting mostly well-behaved out of town kids for Easter Vacation (see editorial this page) one of our own kids undertakes a one-man hell week celebration, with a home made cannon, and get's caught at it.

Richard Graham, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Graham, Junipero and Twelfth, made a mortar cannon out of several lengths of pipe, filled it with black powder, plugged the ends with tissue paper, and using a firecracker for a fuse, fired it off Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the Carmel business district.

Most of the citizens, when they heard it go off, jumped and as usual muttered imprecations against the jets breaking the sound barrier.

The police, on hell week alert, thought it wasn't a jet and tried to catch up with the culprit. They thought he set it off near the Richfield service station Monday night, but when they got there, he'd pulled his armament into a car and disappeared. When the blast went off at 10:45 last night, in Devendorf Plaza, a patrol car arrived in time for the officer to spot Richard racing away from the park, not even stopping this time to cart off his cannon.

Richard's parents put up the $100 bail and he was booked to appear before Judge Ray Baugh in

Buffington Trying To Make Eighth An Ocean Ave. Alternate

There was a lot of argument last night at the committee meeting of citizens and city officials on the improvement of two blocks of Eighth Street, and one on First and one on Santa Rita. The information the property owners had been promised on relative costs of co-operative plan and assessment district for Eighth Street was not forthcoming.

James Buffington and John Chitwood, the councilmen present, with the city officials, insisted that the assessment district would be much more expensive to the individual property owner than the co-operative plan, but had no figures to show what the cost would be per lot.

This information they did produce. Cost of paving the two blocks on Eighth from Junipero to Santa Fe, would be $800 for materials, which the property owners would be required to provide, while the city furnished the labor. There are eight lots facing on those two blocks. On the usual co-operative basis, the cost to these property owners would be about $135 per lot.

If the improvement was made through assessment district, cost would run around $6000 City Engineer Clayton Neill estimated. Asked how much that would run per lot in the proposed assessment district, he said he didn't know, but it would be "a great deal more than on the co-operative plan."

There are 225 lots within the boundaries of the assessment district as set by the city council when it officially announced its intention of setting it up. That runs less than $30 per lot.

Victor Vellisaratatos told the council he would go out and try to collect the $800 for the co-op.

Easter Church Services

Easter observances in Carmel churches start this evening with Maundy Thursday services commemorating The Last Supper. Tomorrow the Crucifixion will be observed in solemn Good Friday church rites. On Sunday the Resurrection will be joyously hailed. Special music will be given at these services. Following is an account of Easter observances at Carmel Mission, All Saints' Episcopal Church, the Church of the Wayfarer and the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Carmel Mission Easter services will include dramatic observances instituted by Father Junipero Serra, founder of the Mission almost two centuries ago. Originally intended to teach unlettered Indian converts the story of the Crucifixion and Resurrection, these observances are now traditional parts of Easter services at Mission San Carlos Borromeo.

This evening at 5:30 o'clock the High Mass of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated with singing by the parish choir. The Mass will be followed by the Procession to the Repository in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel. Girls and boys from the parish school will take part in the processional through the Mission courtyard. Adoration will continue until midnight.

Tomorrow afternoon, Good Friday, Adoration of the Cross begins two hour Easter observances at 1:00 o'clock. This will be followed by a Holy Communion Service concluding with the Stations of the Cross.

After the eleventh station Father Serra's original customs will be honored. The body of Christ on the Cross is taken from the Mission altar and placed on the Sanctuary floor before the Good Friday Mass. At the Twelfth Station of the Cross the Mission is darkened to represent the darkening of the world at the time of Christ's death. A thunderclap resounds through the Mission.

At the thirteenth station four men, dressed in black clothing, take Jesus off from the Cross, knock the nails from his hands and feet, remove the crown of thorns, then place the body of Christ on a linen sheet and put it on a bier.

At the fourteenth station, the four black-clad men carry the bier down the main aisle of the Mission and place it in the tomb in the side chapel. This concludes the Good Friday Mission service.

Confessions will be heard at the Mission on Saturday from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon and in the evening from 7:30 to 10:00 o'clock.

Saturday evening, at 11:00 o'clock, the Easter Vigil Service starts with the Blessing of the New Paschal Fire and Paschal Candle, symbolizing the Resurrection. The Easter Song, Exultet, will be sung by the Deacon of the Service. There will be the Blessing of

NO, SAYS ALLEN

With the police lockers stocked with hell week confiscated beer and a home made mortar cannon, several irresponsible, adult citizens are certain to suggest a post-hell week party for grown ups on the moonlit beach.

Anticipating this, your editor called Police Commissioner Allen Knight and asked him what he would say to the idea.

He says, No. What will happen to the beer? It will go down the drain—the plumbing. And what of the cannon? Never mind, says Commissioner Knight, he'll take care of that.

SPORTS SCHEDULE

BASEBALL

Saturday March 28—Little League Tryouts at High School Field 11-12 age group—8:45 a.m. 8-10 age group—1:00 p.m.

LITTLE LEAGUE TRYOUTS CONTINUE THIS SATURDAY

Carmel Little League's Player Agent, Ed Bauman, will conduct the second tryout session for both the 8 to 10 and 11-12, age groups at the high school baseball diamond this Saturday. The 11 and 12 year olds will report at 8:45 a.m. and the 8-10 group will take over at 1:00 p.m. In the first tryouts conducted this season, there were over 110 Little League candidates demonstrating their baseball prowess to the managers of the six major league teams. Giving the prospects a thorough looking over are skippers Lew McCreery, Sport Shop; George Macy, Boys' Town Champions; Jack Cate, Wilder & Jones; Art Carpenter, Pilots; Jack Miller, San Carlos Agency; and Don Canham, Turner & McEldowney.

While the rookies are trying out at the high school field, President Bill Woolsey has called a training session for the veterans at the Little League Park. All Little League players who are already members of a major league team are requested to report for a 1:00 o'clock workout which is designed to get them in topflight condition for the league opener on April 27.

PADRES LOST QUICK IN MONTEREY BASEBALL TOURNEY

Carmel High's varsity baseball squad found the A-division competition a little too rough in the Monterey Easter Tournament and bowed out after the first day's play. In the 9:30 opener Tuesday morning, the Padres ran into the powerful Salinas Cowboys and were trampled, 8 to 1, as coach Arvin Smith's veteran aggregation teed off on the Carmel hurlers for three home runs, four doubles, and eight singles. The Padres used three pitchers, Bud Conroy, Cim Conway, and Jim Brown in an attempt to hold the Cowboys but the batting power of the Salinas squad was too much for the Carmel trio. Bright spots for the Padres in the losing effort were a booming home run by sophomore Chris Wilkin and a brilliant running catch by outfielder Ronnie Hinchcliff. Chris clubbed a 360-footer over the road at the Monterey Peninsula College diamond while Ronnie ran a country mile to haul down a sure double with a bare-handed catch. Dave Fuller, Padre shortstop, handled five chances without a miscue and picked up two hits in four trips to the plate.

In Tuesday's afternoon game against the Hollister Haybalers, the Padres bounced back from a six-run deficit to knot the count at 7-7 in the sixth inning only to have the Balers forge ahead in the final inning for a 10-6 victory. Cim Conway started on the mound for Carmel and was greeted for three runs in the first inning as the Hollister pitcher, Jim Smith, hit one over the trees at the El Estero Park. Little Phil O'Shea took over the hurling chores in the second heat and pitched steady ball until Hollister's winning rally in the 7th. Top Padre hitters in this one were Walt Helm, Ron Faia, Larry Dufur, and Phil O'Shea. Helm, Dufur, and O'Shea connected for solid doubles while Faia stroked a solid 2-for-3.

Next action for the Carmel nine is slated for April 3 when Coach Wayne Richards brings his San Lorenzo Cougars to the Carmel diamond.

CARMEL HIGH SWIM TEAM CLIPS MONTEREY AND PG

Coach Paul Morlang's Carmel High natators gave warning to the rest of the league that they will be the ones to beat in the 1959 C.C.A.L. swimming championship as they splashed to a convincing win over the strong Monterey team in the first meet of the season. Carmel with 58 points was followed by Monterey with 53 and Pacific Grove with 25. The Padres took first place in every individual event except the 10 yd. breast-stroke and Bert Blanks just barely missed in that one. Mike Cook set a new league record in the 100-yard butterfly as he went the distance in 1:07.8 to shatter the previous standard of 1:14.2. Jeff Smith and Mike Cook shared high point honors for the winning Padre team as both picked up two first places. Others contributing to Carmel's winning score were

CARMEL TRACK TEAMS SPLIT WITH HOLLISTER

Carmel's heavyweight track squad turned back the Hollister Haybalers, 59-54 in an interesting track duel at the Padre oval last Saturday morning while the visiting Baler lightweights hung a 65-50 decision on the Little Padres. Nick Vertin's double win in the high jump and pole vault topped the heavyweight scorers and was instrumental in upsetting the strong Haybaler squad. Other point-makers for the Carmel varsity were Dave Farr, 2nd 100 yd. dash; Charley Todd, 3rd 100 yd. and 220 yd.; Frank Mayo, 1st 440 and relay; Bob Dufon, 2nd 440; Bill Kearney, 1st 880; Joe Foster, 2nd 880; Frank Wallace, 1st mile and relay; Pete Hanson, 3rd mile; Bill Harder, 1st low hurdles and 3rd high hurdles; Pat Boyle, 2nd pole vault; Phil White, tie for 1st high jump; and Bill Hicks, 2nd discus.

Norberg And Adm. Fisher Fail In Fight To Block Fenton Development Plans

Carmel planning commissioners yesterday afternoon, granted Leslie C. Fenton permission to demolish the Carmel Theatre building and construct a two-story building for a Carmel branch of the Bank of America; a one-story building to house a Carmel branch of I. Magnin's, women's clothing firm; and a third one-story building for five stores.

Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, and Councilman Gunter Norberg opposed this action; Mrs. Patricia Hall and Sam Colburn spoke in favor of the Fenton development fronting on Ocean Avenue between Mission and Junipero Streets.

Pending legislation, said both Admiral Fisher and Mr. Norberg, was a basis for commission denial of the Fenton application. They were referring to two pieces of legislation for commercial district construction control proposed to the city council and referred by the council to the planning commission for study and report. Area of site, height, volume, ground coverage and architectural controls, with which the Fenton buildings do not comply, were spelled out in the council-to-commission referrals. Fisher and Norberg contended.

While the referrals are before the planning commission for study, the commission is authorized by state law to deny any building permit until passage of an ordinance implementing the proposed controls, Admiral Fisher stated. He felt that the three Fenton buildings will radically change the character of Carmel which "It is highly desirable to preserve and protect."

Councilman Norberg, defending Admiral Fisher's stand, cited that when a similar request for new building while legislation was pending, came before the San Francisco planning commission it was denied on the grounds both he and Admiral Fisher advocated.

He deplored the elapse of time with no action on the referrals by the commission.

The commission received the referrals at their December meeting. They are ordinances with bulk, height, density and site area controls proposed to the council by Mr. Norberg and in the DeCamp report. Both refer to the central business district. A council-referred zoning plan for the central district is also in commission study.

Commissioner Keeble, replying to Mr. Norberg and Admiral Fisher, said that the council had sent reports, not proposed legislation, to the commission. City Clerk Larry Rose stated that the proposed ordinances only needed a commission report to the council.

Chairman George Wilcox stated that both referrals demanded much thinking by commissioners before reports could be given the council. He also pointed out that in a former instance, the Schultz matter, the commission had been able to hold action on a permit because council action was underway.

City attorney John Morse said that the commission could not deny an application before some crystallization of building control thinking took place. The commission could not suspend construction in the central district under vague concepts which did not apply fairly. There must be some standard for guidance when the commission acted under pending legislation.

"It is not illegal to proceed," he said, "there is no legislation on the books at present affecting this matter."

Mr. Morse also stated that in the commission's food store continuance action at a former meeting, when they asked Robert Stanton to wait for a permit, was justified under pending legislation. "The applicant agreed to the delay," added Mr. Keeble.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks plead the individual right of a property owner. He stated that under planning commission initiated legislation or council supported legislation, which was pending, commissioners had delayed a property owner from construction which did not meet requirements of the legislation under consideration.

Any councilman can submit an ordinance to the commission for consideration, he continued, referring to the fact that Mr. Norberg's ordinance had been presented first to the council, had not had previous planning commission study and report and no public hearing.

Commissioner Hugh Smith felt there was no legitimate reason to hold commission approval of the Fenton application. Mr. Keeble pointed out the attractiveness of the three Fenton buildings with the central building setback from Ocean Avenue amounting in size to a 25 by 100 foot lot.

Unanimous approval of commissioners followed, the permit was granted with construction to commence prior to June 24.

SEA SCOUT PARTY

Allen Knight had his annual party for the Sea Scouts at his "Shiphouse" home at Sixth and Guadalupe Streets Wednesday night.

ASKEW MEMORIAL FUND

The William L. Aske Memorial Fund was instituted to receive contributions and to erect a suitable memorial to the memory of William L. Aske, the late Superintendent of Streets for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, a man beloved of many as a neighbor and vigorous citizen.

The total of $122.50 was contributed to the project. On 17 June, 1958, the Trustees of the Fund, Messrs. Floyd Adams, Clyde Klauermann, Robert Smith and L. D. Rose met and decided that a living memorial as exemplified by a pine tree, would be most appropriate. It was therefore proposed that such a memorial be established in the intersection of Junipero and 6th Avenues; that a stone planter be constructed to contain the tree; and that a plaque be struck to commemorate the memorial.

On 9 July, 1958, the City Council adopted resolution No. 1648, authorizing the erection of the memorial at the location requested by the Trustees, and on 5 November, 1958, the Council approved the design of the project.

On Wednesday, 11 March, 1959, the William L. Aske Memorial was dedicated by Mayor John L. Chitwood. Members of the Aske family, the men of the Street Department, Councilmen and the Trustees of the Fund were present.

The Trustees met once again, on 10 March, 1959. A final statement of Trustee Rose showed only $28.40 in expenses, because of the generous contribution of materials and assistance proffered in so many instances. It was voted, therefore, to contribute the residue to the purchase of name plates for the memorial plaque being prepared by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, upon which the name of William L. Aske would appear. The Trustees thereupon moved to authorize the issuance of this, its final report, and thereafter to dissolve the Fund and discharge the Board of Trustees.

I herewith certify that the following constitutes a summary statement of the monies in the William L. Aske Memorial Fund, particulars concerning which are preserved in the files of the Fund, in the office of City Clerk.

Cash Received $122.50. Expenditures $29.40. Remainder $93.04. To Carmel Volunteer Fire Department $93.04. Balance 0.

Handel's Saul To Open 22nd Bach Festival

Handel will have a prominent place in program of the twenty-second annual Carmel Bach Festival, July 20 to 26, Dene Denny, president of the Bach Festival Corporation, said this week. On opening night, the chorus, orchestra and soloists will perform Handel's oratorio, Saul. Other Handel music will be presented throughout the week. The musical world is celebrating the 200th anniversary of Handel's death this year, and since Handel is a contemporary of Bach, his works fit congenially into the Bach Festival program.

Evening events for the Carmel Festival are at Sunset School Auditorium and afternoon events at the Church of the Wayfarer and Carmel Woman's Club.

Easter Bunny Comes To Carmel

Sixteen children and 14 parents will hunt eggs in the Carmel Highlands garden of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams on Sunday morning, following a custom established some 20 years ago.

First parents hide eggs while children line up in the living room according to age. The youngest leads the rush outside when the door is opened. Children peer under bushes, in trees, among blossoms, under flowerpots and other strange and secret spots while parents endeavor to be disinterested spectators.

Time is called, everyone returns to the house. Parents line up while children hide eggs with gleeful cunning. The shortest parent leads the second sally into the garden. The children are not disinterested spectators. This time the number of brightly colored eggs in each basket is a matter of family pride.

"Mother, can't you see anything above your head? Daddy why don't you look under things at your feet?" are pertinent hints in the second hunt.

Time is called again and all hunters have lunch, with hard-boiled eggs a main course.

First round hunters this year will be Molly, Honey and John Williams; Joe and Penny Nesbitt; Alison, Andrew and Janie Miller; Kathy James; Lee Stewart; Leslie Strosnider; Melissa Lofton; Tasha Doner; Jonathan, Mark and Erica Chaffey.

Upholding family egg hunting honor will be Dr. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Nesbitt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner, Mrs. Valentine Miller, Mrs. Collette Chaffey from Menlo Park and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel James from Los Angeles.

"Next year we hope to add a grandparents' class," says Mrs. Williams.

The Dan A. Dancy family will have a bright, shining, fire-engine red station wagon to ride in on Easter Sunday, Commander Dancy gave the family automobile a new spring coat of paint on Tuesday, while Mrs. Dancy and Chris, Cathy, Rocky, Sandy, Candy and Dusty admired.

Saturday evening the six children will dye eggs to leave in a basket for the Easter Bunny to hide during the night. His assistants will be Chris and Cathy, high school age, they plan to help the Bunny find difficult hiding places about the house, such as behind pictures.

In the morning Candy and Dusty the youngest Dancy children, will hunt the eggs with the help of elementary-school-age Rocky and Sandy. Then the whole family will attend Easter services at the Church of the Wayfarer.

Grandchildren of Admiral L. J. Hudson (USN Ret.) and Mrs. Hudson, will hunt Easter eggs after church on Sunday on the lawn of their grandparents' home at Point Lobos "and in the bushes too." At this hunt younger children are given a head start over older children. Expected to join Admiral and Mrs. Hudson's grandchildren are grandchildren of Mrs. Hudson's sister, Mrs. T. F. Riley of Point Lobos. A family turkey dinner completes the Easter party at the Hudson home.

Expected this year are Supervisor Thomson Jay Hudson, his wife, Jane, and their children, Jim, Dan and Sally; Allan and Mary Hudson and Mike, Peggy, Betsy, Sandy and Sarah; Bob and Betty Wilson of Rancho Chupinos in Carmel Valley with Dan and Linda; Mary and Bud Whistler from San Francisco with Mark and Diana; also Mrs. Allan Hudson's parents, Commander Howard Benson (USN Ret.) and Mrs. Benson of Annapolis, Maryland, who are visiting in Carmel.

Kept away from egg hunting will be the Tom Hudsons' three Australian shepherd dogs. "We came home from church two years ago and found they had eaten all the eggs we had colored for the hunt," says their mistress. Since then Teddy, Smoky and Picaro are not popular at Easter parties.

Training For Gray Ladies
Candidates for Gray Lady Service to work at the U. S. Army Hospital at Fort Ord are being sought by the Carmel Red Cross. The training consists of an orientation course of four hours at the chapter and a day of training at the hospital on April 9. Easter Bunny Comes To Carmel

During the moonlit hours of Saturday night or early Sunday morning the Easter Bunny will visit Carmel homes. He has varied ways of hiding colored eggs for children to collect. Rain or shine, inside or outside, on Sunday eggs will be hunted by children and different Easter customs observed by families. Below are some of the Easter traditions of Carmel families with small children.

The Easter Bunny makes an early morning visit to the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Colburn and leaves eggs everywhere, on trees and even in cars, if the sun shines. When it rains a window is left open and the Bunny comes inside and places eggs all over the furniture. Then Teryl, Ritchie, Bolton and Cyrus wake up and hunt. This year they will have Corinne and Petey Alley as their guests.

Brunch at the home of Corinne and Petey will follow the egg hunt and there will be the traditional Egg Battle. Contestants select an egg and compete in pairs. Each warrior, egg in hand, places an elbow on a table, then lowers the egg arm to tap the opponent's egg and endeavor to crack it. As soon as an egg is cracked it is eliminated from the battle but players may select another egg and challenge until all eggs but one are cracked. The unharmed egg is placed on the Colburn's mantelpiece to be admired for a week. Last year Teryl's egg survived the Egg Battle unscathed.

Donald, Arthur, Scott and Suzanne Smythe, children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Smythe of Pebble Beach, believe in helping the busy Easter Bunny. On Saturday they will dye eggs and leave them overnight on the kitchen table besides carrots and lettuce for the Easter Bunny's breakfast. Before dawn, the Bunny will arrive, and eat the breakfast before hiding eggs for the four children to hunt later in the back garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson Jr. and their six children, Larry, Nancy, Bill, Bob, Beth and Dougie, ranging in age from 11 to one and a half years, will all attend services at All Saints' Church on Sunday morning. Nancy will sing with the Girls' Choir, Bill with the Boys' Choir, Larry will be candlebearer in the processional.

When they return home from church, the Easter Bunny will have left a basket for each of the children. Then there will be a jelly bean hunt around the house.

At 5:00 o'clock the Thompson family will go to the home of Mrs. Helen Berkey, Mr. Thompson's aunt, for dinner. Joining them will be Mr. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson Sr.

Six-days-old Thad Stevenson Stewart will have an Easter basket on Sunday morning promises his proud father, William K. Stewart.

Tomorrow Mrs. Stewart and Thad, who weighed five pounds, 12 ounces when he was born on Monday afternoon at 4:41 o'clock, return home from the Peninsula Community Hospital. Greeting them will be Thad's two half-sisters, Lee and Whitney. Later, Thad's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts of Mission San Jose, plan a Carmel visit to see the first Stewart son.

Thad has been given the middle name Stevenson in honor of Adlai Stevenson. Mr. Stewart has twice been this district's Democratic candidate for Congress, and both he and Mrs. Stewart are admirers of their party's leader.

Saturday night Dr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder will blow and dye eggs, then decorate them with sequins and other sparkles. They will prepare one egg for each of the five Snyder children, and a few extra in case of breakage.

When Judy, Debbie, Doug and twins Martha and Tom wake up on Sunday morning they will find the Easter Bunny has left a basket at the foot of each bed. Later, they will admire the sparkling eggs decorated by their parents the evening before, then choose one egg each and each hang it at the head of their own bed.

"Sometimes," says Mrs. Snyder, "these fragile eggs remain in place, unbroken, until the following Easter."

"Mother Rabbit" hides eggs all over the house of Mr. and Mrs. Fredric E. (Buz) Rainer on Easter Sunday morning. Then sons Teddy and Scotty hunt while "Father Rabbit" watches patiently. Spectators, also, this Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Ben M. Burney of Claremont, Mrs. Rainer's parents.

"We will be rejoicing that the measles are over. We all had them," reports Mrs. Rainer.

Last Saturday Mr. Rainer, Carmel High School track coach, was at home with the measles when his Padres defeated Hollister here.

Pioneer Ski Story Accepted

J. William Mac Lennan has just been informed that a short article about his skiing experience while a junior at Dartmouth College has recently appeared in Ski, a national magazine for those interested in that sport. Mac Lennan and three or four of his classmates were amongst the first skiers at Dartmouth, often practicing on the hills close to the college, between classes, and on Saturdays making long excursions over the fields and through the woods about Hanover, New Hampshire.

Town House Honors Member

On Wednesday afternoon the Carmel Foundation Town House program will be a reading of poems by Mrs. Emeline Curry and the playing of a recording made by her telling some incidents of her life. Mrs. Curry died on March 5.

Paintings of the late Lee Randolph will remain at Town House for exhibit during April. Hours for viewing them are 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock, Mondays through Fridays.

Hammond Organ Meeting

The March meeting of the Monterey County Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society took place in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ed

Graham in Carmel Woods. The musical program, preceded by a short business agenda and followed by refreshments in the rumpus room, was presented by Dorothy Patterson, a professional organist from Nevada. She played an array of popular hits many of which were request numbers.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE

*There chills long quiet, now I live alone.
A soundless freedom stifles act, will, thought;
And surely freedom is too dearly bought
That silences this hot heart-blood to stone.
I had not pictured solitude so grim.
Through lessening of crowded family years —
Despair, joys, triumphs, need, affection, fears —
His face still gleamed, I much desired him.
At last he comes to me. But marbled eyes
Stare, lips clamp close, he shrugs, and I see all
That shining for mirage. Let me derive Dull joy from truth; admit my choice unwise.
For this mute ghoul I bartered, past recall,
Companionship that sang the heart alive.*

—HELEN FAULKNER

THE CHOICE

*Four yards of silk?
I smoothed the shining hues.
Four yards of silk?
It was most difficult to choose.
For there was beauty in each gleaming fold,
And womankind craves beauty more than gold.*

*Four yards of silk?
I slowly shook my head.
Four yards of silk?
I felt a greater need instead.
For higher joys no human product fills ...
I bought brown bulbs for future daffodils.*

HAPPINESS IS RELATIVE

*Happiness is relative.
Touched by circumstance;
One responds to solitude ...
Another needs romance.*

*Happiness is relative ...
Adult hearts restrain
Rhapsodies of singing joy

—LAURA JANET LARSON

SEA-SCAPE

*Sea-waves, foam-edged, like the fringe of a Spanish shawl, caress and cover
the shell-studded shore.*

*Birds foot-print
hieroglyphic letters on white and coral sheets of sand.*

*If I could only read them!
Read them — and — understand.*

Von Falkenstein, Wolo, Here For Week End Visit

to the walls of at least eight California hospitals, principally in children's wards and nurseries. He also decorates pediatrician's waiting rooms and other areas in need of a little therapeutic uplift.

"I would like sometime," he said, "to be commissioned to do the ceiling of a hospital delivery room." He mentioned some items he would paint on such a ceiling if such a job comes along. His ideas were peculiarly appropriate.

Wolo was not always Wolo, of course, and the dissemination of laughter and good will was not always his forte. It cost him some effort to achieve both his abbreviated professional name and his occupation.

As the son of a landed Saxony family, he was Baron Wolf Erhardt Anton Georg Trutzchler von Falkenstein and his home was the ancestral Falkenstein castle near Dresden.

Sent as an exchange student by his family to the University of Wisconsin to study agriculture, Wolo soon decided he would only be a misfit as a landowner. He applied for American citizenship and became an artist.

That was 33 years ago but Wolo says his personal declaration of independence from his family's expectations really became most meaningful in 1955, when he was accepting the northern California television "Emmy" for his work with Aloysius. "For 800 years people in my family had been accepting awards for heroic achievements," Wolo says, "but I was the first one of us who ever won an 'Emmy'."

Wolo was not, however, the only author on the family tree. A sister, Countess Setter von Finkenstein of Berne, Switzerland, has written among other things a popular cookbook for children with tales of the adventures of vegetables scattered among the simplified recipes. The book has not yet been translated into English, but Wolo believes it should be. All of his own books have been translated for European sale.

These include Amanda, Sir Archibald the Monkey, Tweedles Be Brave, The Secret of the Ancient Oak and Fox Valley. Publishers have been William Morrow and Random House.

An additional activity for Wolo and Lydia is their studio shop Happy Things on Grant Avenue in San Francisco, where Wolo paints and sketches and where he prepared TV shows before illness and overwork forced him and Aloysius to forego that branch of their work.

Here also "Mrs. Mouse" sells

On March 10, the California Public Utilities Commission handed down a 3-to-2 decision denying, for the most part, our applications to discontinue certain little-used California passenger trains. This decision has caused some misunderstanding of our feelings about passenger train service. THE TRUTH IS...

WE WANT TO RUN PASSENGER TRAINS

We're in the business of running trains — both passenger and freight — and we expect to be running them for a long time to come. We want to make it very clear just how we feel about our passenger service.

- 1 We want to run passenger trains that you need and use. We welcome passenger business and we hope more people will ride our trains.
- 2 We want our passenger trains to be good trains. We think our passenger service is as good as any in the country...and we intend to keep it that way.
- 3 We feel, however, that it is only sensible to discontinue those trains which so few people use that the trains obviously are no longer needed.

ARE WE ACTING IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST?

bookplates and sketches by Wolo and handles a small import inventory while their young and old friends gather in the shop to swing away their worries on a special "therapeutic swing," and to listen to the big antique music box.

Al himself is quitting his long stint on KPIX (Channel 5) with a collection of laurels. He received an award for fire prevention work in 1957, became the only puppet to crash the sound barrier (with a Navy pilot along) in 1958. He has his own Cub uniform and earned a friendship button from Girl Scouts of America.

Part of Aloysius' TV career was spent in Los Angeles when a studio there held a contest to seek the best puppeteer on the Coast. The mayor of San Francisco proclaimed Wolo Day in 1956 to draw attention to that city's talented puppeteer. He won easily of course although it was a contest it hadn't occurred to Wolo to enter.

The celebrated mouse elf got called Aloysius by chance when Wolo picked a name at random in the press of a television emergency when a puppet was needed in a hurry. Wolo sees a touch of the mystic in the fact that it was only much later he realized that St. Aloysius is the patron of youth and children.

Even before Wolo teamed up with Aloysius he was ranked among top flight puppeteers. He discovered this when MGM chose four "best" pupeteers to work in the film Lili, centered around carnival life. Prior to that he had done work in early Hollywood for Paramount's Anything Goes and some Harold Lloyd pictures.

About seven years ago the U. S. Information Service sent Wolo on a puppet tour of Germany and he was borrowed by the British for a similar job.

For the next six months, Wolo says, he'll be working on the first of the new books, here and in San Francisco. Besides illustrating and writing, he hopes to do a few more murals and perhaps teach puppetry. He says he hopes to make Carmel his headquarters eventually because "people are doing things in Carmel. It's one place where artists really work instead of talk about working."

In any case he and Lydia, a former teacher in the Monterey School District, have many friends here and so do Aloysius, Petita, and their puppet friends.

Kohler Urges Tennis Clubs For Peninsula In Talk To Lions

At the regular meeting of Carmel Lions Club on Tuesday evening, Lion William Wakefield introduced Leo Kohler, professional tennis instructor, who told members his views on what the Peninsula should do to encourage more and better tennis in the community.

Mr. Kohler is employed by the recreation departments, of Peninsula school systems to teach tennis to children. Classes range in size from 25 to 80 students. He would like to have each city have a tennis team of five or six students, ranked according to their ability. This would make inter-city tennis competition keen and fair, said Mr. Kohler.

Formation of a community tennis club, similar to a golf club, where families could play tennis, swim and dine was also suggested by Mr. Kohler.

In eastern cities, where such clubs flourish, memberships were all bought before ground was broken for clubhouse and facilities. This assured success for the tennis clubs and waiting lists are the rule.

It is Leo Kohler's hope that tennis-minded citizens on the Peninsula will organize such a club. He feels strongly that only in this manner can we develop the potential we have in the youth of the community, build towards championship tennis, he told Lions Club members.

Baby To Make Debut At Circle Theatre In The Royal Family

A new play, The Royal Family, opens April 3 at the Golden Bough Theatre, a fast-moving comedy centered around the Barrymore family of the mid-twenties. Authors are Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, the latter remembered for You Can't Take It With You and The Man Who Came To Dinner.

Among the extravaganzas called for by the authors are a baby and several animals: dogs, parrots, monkeys. The baby is Kathy Baker, and Kathy's mother will play Miss Peake, the baby's nurse.

monstrated early instruction in tennis, also championship tennis as played by outstanding stars today.

Yes! Say these Commissioners...

Last week, C. Lyn Fox, President of the California Public Utilities Commission, and Commissioner Matthew J. Dooley, who presided and heard all evidence at the hearings, took sharp issue with many opinions expressed in the March 10 decision of the other three Commissioners.

In their dissenting statement Commissioners Fox and Dooley said that Southern Pacific "... is to be commended rather than condemned for initiating economies designed to reduce its out-of-pocket loss and thus enable it to continue on a reasonable basis a public passenger service which will meet the public need and convenience as demonstrated by present usage."

They further said, "... Southern Pacific ... has met fully the burden of proof necessary to sustain its application...."

"In no instance does the daily average number of through revenue passengers carried between major termini by any one of these six trains equal one bus load. To require applicant to continue to provide railway passenger service for a single bus load of passengers is uneconomical in the extreme."

The dissenting Commissioners pointed out that, although they were keenly aware that a utility incurs an obligation to meet demands of public convenience and necessity, as an economic factor any deficit suffered due to passenger train losses must be subsidized by agricultural, industrial and governmental shippers. They said that in the present case the majority decision "ignores the economics of the situation in general and of California shippers ... in particular."

The two Commissioners further stated that they had "... been unable to find in the record any evidence indicating, in the slightest degree, any lack of integrity in applicant's presentation. In this connection it is significant that the presiding Commissioner ... found no lack of integrity in their development and presentation."

And they concluded, "There comes a time when those charged with the responsibility of regulating public utilities should face up to the facts of change and act with objectivity and reason. That time has arrived in the State of California."

Derek Lawford Opens English China Shop

Derek Lawford has opened a shop on San Carlos Street near Fifth for the sale of fine English china.

Mr. Lawford, with his wife Joan and seven-year-old daughter, Amanda, came to live in Carmel in February. Amanda attends Wood School.

The Lawfords left England to live in Vancouver, British Columbia, in 1953. They discovered Carmel in 1956 while returning to Vancouver by the coast route, after a visit in Texas with a Royal Air Force buddy of Lawford. Next year they came back for a holiday here. The following year they came again and visited Mrs. Lawford's brother, architect John Cocker of Pebble Beach. This time they determined to live in Carmel and start a business. A shop for fine English china was the choice for the new venture. On February 1, this year they left Vancouver to become Carmel residents.

Mr. Lawford was in charge of the hardware mail order department for Simpson, Sears in Vancouver, the Canadian equivalent of Sears, Roebuck in the United States.

In 1944-1945 he was attached to the Supreme Headquarters of General Eisenhower's army.

At home he covered the end of the Roosevelt administration and the early Truman days, atomic energy and the Pearl Harbor investigation.

A graduate of Harvard Law School, Mr. Stringer also holds a degree from Colgate University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the D. K. E. fraternity and the National Press Club in Washington. Also he is a former president of the Association of American Correspondents in London. Recently he has broadcast weekly The Monitor Views the News, substituting for Erwin D. Canham.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality" is the Golden Text from Mark (1:14, 15): "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (208:20): "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven, — the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen."

From the Bible will be read the following (II Corinthians 4:6): "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

Music On The Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Marjorie Wurzmann, one of our best resident pianists, was heard in recital Sunday before an invited group of friends in the Wurzmann home on Lincoln Street. While she has played with the Chamber Music Ensemble I had not heard her in recital since La Cause Francaise presented her at the Circle Theatre, and I found her with added power and interpretive ability. True, only an upright piano served her in the Theatre which can never give the full proportions for a pianist with strong and flexible technique, but her own grand, in fine condition, responded properly to her whole program whether in dynamic or pianissimo touch. The Vivaldi Concerto Grosso opened the program. It is an impressive composition and was given the full value of its depth and sonority which might have surprised the composer if he could have heard it on a modern instrument.

Two Brahms intermezzi in E and B minor, the G minor Schumann Sonata, were all brilliant performances, followed by two Debussy numbers, —Pagodes and Les Terraces des Audiences, du Clair de Lune—charmingly played. Le Polichelle by Lobos and The Juggler by Tscherny earned extra applause in their unique character. Enthusiasm was also shown for the Chopin Barcarolle. Mrs. Wurzmann makes melody sing and all her performances flowed easily in tempo, rhythm and phrasing. It was altogether an interesting program of less familiar numbers which the pianist announced in her gentle manner that makes her always a charming person and a delightful hostess.

Director Adler of the San Francisco Opera Company announces that The Merola Memorial Fund which honors Gaetano Merola, founder of the San Francisco Opera, will, for the first time, present members of the Merola Training Group in a full length opera at Stern Grove. The group is made up of winners in the Opera Auditions for which applications are now being taken at the Opera House.

The inimitable Myra Hess will be heard six times in April with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and in one recital April 21. She plays a Mozart Concerto April 1, 2 and 3, and a Beethoven on April 29, 30 and May 1.

Citizens Committee
P. O. Box 1101
Carmel, California
March 23, 1959

The Carmel Pine Cone
P. O. Box G-1
Carmel, California

Dear Sirs:

We, the Citizens Committee of Carmel, recognize as you do the fact that the population pressure and the trend toward bigness and chains present one of our country's serious problems. We agree also with Sylvia Porter, lucid financial writer, with T. K. Quinn, former vice president of General Electric Co., and others who have pointed out the baneful effects of "big business" and "absentee landlordism" in the economy of small and medium-sized cities.

We emphatically dissent from the view that local efforts to prevent such civic deterioration will fail. On the contrary, city planning and zoning are more and more being used to establish and maintain the chosen community character and even to correct past mistakes. Such uses are being upheld by court decisions. The California State Planning and Zoning Statutes have not been declared unconstitutional. They are being used to preserve the quiet residential character of Rolling Hills, of San Marino, of Woodside and to control the growth of Arcadia, etc. We hold that, with reasonable cooperation, Carmel and the other cities of the Monterey Peninsula can and should succeed in preserving their distinctive characteristics.

It was for this very purpose that the Citizens Committee was formed. The foundation stone is the adoption of a Master Plan (already half done) and the enactment of a Zoning Ordinance to implement it.

The claim that no community can keep out chain stores, chain banks or branch industries is open to question. Limitations as to area, bulk, ground coverage and architecture are permitted under State law. In a current case, Carmel does not have to approve a "commonplace" structure if it does not want to.

In the Fenton Plaza, covering a whole city block, there were to be housed "big businesses," including service station facilities in a sub-surface "parking lot" and a large motel. The Council's decision against the service station was soundly based on Carmel's City Ordinances and should stand.

The alternative is one of undermining the new City plan and its forthcoming series of zoning ordinances to the point where all future safeguards against buildings and enterprises of doubtful character and architecture are jeopardized. This is not a risk but a certainty. No project, regardless of its beauty, is worth it.

Progress can be defined as an effort to maintain a high standard. The peculiar charm of Carmel is a major asset to the entire peninsula. We hope that all editors and other thinking people who love Carmel will join our efforts to keep up the standards set by our present residents.

Very truly yours,
Citizens Committee

The Rupert Leaches Buy Bib'n Tucker Children's Shop

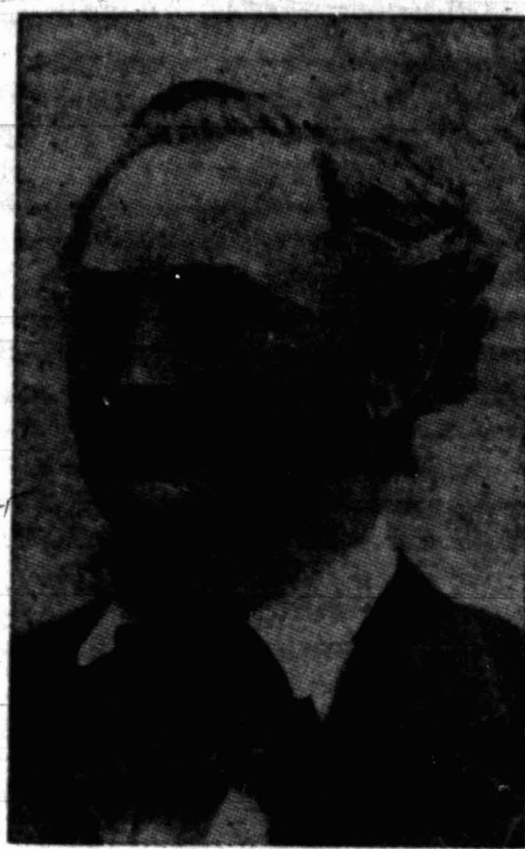

New owners of The Bib N' Tucker, shop for infants' and children's wear on Ocean Avenue, are Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Leach. Both have had considerable experience in the fashion fields with such stores as I. Magnin, Bullocks Westwood and Julius Garfinkel of Washington, D. C.

A few years ago Rupert Leach turned his talents to photography and travelled extensively throughout the world as director of photography for the Viewmaster organization. He personally met and photographed many of today's great personalities such as Queen Elizabeth II, Prince Philip, Pandit Nehru and the late Pope Pius XII. One of his treasured possessions is a letter of thanks from Queen Elizabeth following his coverage of the Coronation.

Rupert and Poppy Leach vacationed in Carmel many times during this period and decided it was the place they wanted to live, so Mr. Leach, feeling he had enjoyed enough of almost incessant travel, moved to Carmel a year ago with Mrs. Leach. They decided to purchase The Bib N' Tucker last January. "We had always considered it a wonderful little shop, both for its fine, exclusive clothes and its delightful Carmel atmosphere, so felt it just the right thing for us. Our experience with fine fashion shops naturally means The Bib N' Tucker will continue to feature only the most fashion right clothes for children." Incidentally, clothes from The Bib N' Tucker have been sent to every state and many overseas countries.

Rupert and Poppy Leach origin-

William Welles Hollister, 1818-86 stockman, transcontinental drover, city and area developer, rancher and civic worker for whom the city of Hollister was named, has been named to the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Born in Ohio, the eighth generation of his family in America from England, Hollister started study at Kenyon college, then withdrew because of faulty vision. For 15 years he managed farms for his father, who also was a merchant, until he had a stake to start on his own. He bought 200 head of cattle and in 1851, traded them from Ohio to California. The venture was so successful he returned to Ohio and with financial help from a sister, organized a party to repeat a larger venture.

With 50 herdsmen and drovers he took 9,000 sheep, 400 head of cattle and some horses west, across rivers, mountains and desert. They were one and a half years on the road, hitting the coast near present Los Angeles then going north. With that start he settled in then Monterey county, later San Benito, on the old San Justo grant of 60,000 acres, when land sold from 25 cents to $1.25 an acre. He was a stockman there from 1854 to 1869, and one of the state's largest sheep raisers.

Most of the land was sold to settlers, whose payments and interest Hollister reduced when hard times hit, with the result that the town of Hollister was named for him. In 1869 Hollister formed a partnership at Santa Barbara with Thomas and Albert Dibblee. They acquired four large ranches: Rancho Nuestra Senora del Refugio, Las Cruces, Salsipuedes and Las Armitas. Included were 150,000 acres of the original Rancho Lompoc, part of which was sold to an immigrant company in 1874. In 1881 the partnership was dissolved.

Hollister helped develop both northern and southern California. He helped found Santa Barbara College, the library and engaged in many civic enterprises for general betterment.

ally came from London, England, and have one son. They live in their own home in Hatton Fields.

LUCILLE'S BACK

This is a good day to ask a favor of City Clerk Larry Rose. He's bursting with good will toward mankind. Lucille is back, decked with leis, after 10 days in Hawaii. During her absence, all city hall has been flying on one wing. They even had to send out for a pot of tea, without Lucille there to brew it for them. Fortunately, Lucille likes typing minutes, cutting stencils, reading proofs, speaking continuously to people over the phone, and is happily picking up where she left off.

Mrs. Coleman Has Guests

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor left today for Hillsborough. Since Monday evening they have been the guests of Mrs. George Coleman, Jr., of Pebble Beach.

Wayfarer Missionary Tea

The semi-annual interchurch missionary tea will be held at the Church of the Wayfarer on Friday afternoon, April 3, from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The Wayfarer Woman's Auxiliary will be hostess for the affair, and Women of Carmel Presbyterian and All Saints' Churches will be guests. An outstanding speaker on religious and missionary education, Mrs. Louise Way Eggleston of Maryland, will be the speaker.

The missionary tea is the successor to the interdenominational Carmel Missionary Society, founded about 1905, the first women's organization in Carmel, carried on by the two small churches here with monthly meetings alternating between them. As the churches grew stronger and developed their own mission work, the joint meetings were held quarterly and then, to continue the pleasant association, the tea twice a year was substituted, the churches alternating as hostess, and preparing the program.

Mrs. Eggleston is president this year of Koinonia Foundation near Baltimore, Maryland, devoted to promoting "material and spiritual values through technical aid to hungry, sick, illiterate, and needy peoples in all parts of the world." One of their activities is to train young persons preparing for the mission field to develop good relations with the underdeveloped and needy peoples. This is done at the headquarters, House of Peace, and old, beautiful estate near Baltimore. Mrs. Eggleston will speak again Friday evening at the Methodist church in Pacific Grove.

Dr. Frank Laubach, noted for developing the method of teaching illiterate adults to read which has swept through Asia, Africa, and South America in the last three decades, is also a member of the Board of Directors and former president of Koinonia. The name, from New Testament Greek, means fellowship, communion, sharing in common. With both these religious leaders, literacy is an important part of Christianizing the world.

President of the Wayfarer Auxiliary, Mrs. John R. Christie is general chairman for the meeting; Mrs. L. J. Fletcher, first vice president arranged the program and will introduce Mrs. Eggleston. John W. Farr, director of the church choir, will sing a baritone solo with accompaniment by Mrs. Connel K. Carruth, Mrs. K. Fill-

Carmel's Sacramento Runners Get Little For Their Junkets

Carmel visited Sacramento Friday and Tuesday.

Mayor John Chitwood and Councilman Allen Knight went to the Monterey Peninsula Day party in Sacramento Friday in honor of Governor Brown (who's he?) out of politeness. Monterey cooked it up and thought we should participate, so the council decided the city would finance the trip for the two councilmen and pay Carmel's share in putting on the dinner, which was fish mostly, because of Monterey. "The coffee was good," Mayor Chitwood reports.

About 60 miscellaneous senators and representatives ate fish with the Monterey Peninsula delegation but Governor Brown wasn't as politeness conscious as Carmel. He didn't show up.

Carmel never did figure out what the kick was with the fish party in Sacramento but when Monterey asked us to go along and show good will, the council thought it might seem ungracious not to because in a Democratic landslide last November, Carmel acted just as mentioned above—Brown, who's he?

We were out to get something Tuesday when Mayor Chitwood and Councilman Allen Knight again bowled over the freeways to Sacramento. Our Bill, 97, to limit city liquor licenses in proportion to population, as the county licenses are limited, was up for committee hearing. It originated here, out of our need, and Senator Fred Farr, who originates here, too, got it as far as the three-man Government Efficiency Committee hearing. League of California Cities representative, our councilmen, and Admiral C. W. Fisher, chairman of the Carmel Citizens Committee, testified "and made a very good case." Senator Farr told us yesterday, but the representatives of the package goods people, and the bar and restaurant association, and the wholesale liquor distributors—more Gray will give devotions. Tea and the social hour following are under the charge of hospitality chairman Miss Maude Hook assisted by members of Circle Three.

seven individual liquor lobbies in all-charged "local option," adding that in big cities such a regulation would be a hardship.

The best our people could do was get a continuance and compose two amendments: that the bill apply only to cities of 6000 inhabitants or under, and that council and county supervisors may count in heavily populated neighboring unincorporated areas in the population to license ratio, if they wish.

Nobody has much hope for even this limited version of the bill.

Buffington Trying To Make Eighth An Ocean Ave. Alternate

erative plan, the idea being to solicit those living in the neighborhood of Eighth as well as the property owners directly on the street. The argument is that if they don't come in on the co-operative plan, they will be forced in on an assessment district and it would cost them much more.

This is not true. It is Street Commissioner James Buffington's method of attempting to frighten and force property owners into improving a street they do not want improved. Their reasons for not wanting it improved: paving those two blocks will open up a freeway in and out of town for all of south of Ocean Avenue. It is being used now, when those two blocks have been freshly graded, as an alternate Ocean Avenue for South of Ocean Avenue Carmelites headed for Monterey.

Eighth cuts through the Eighty Acres, the one remaining quiet, undisturbed residence district that retains some of the atmosphere of Old Carmel. For their own protection, the property owners have refused for years voluntarily to contribute to the paving of this street. Other street commissioners have respected their wishes, and their rights. Commissioner Buffington says he will force the issue. If the property owners won't come in voluntarily, the council will set up an assessment district. Mayor John Chitwood is equally enthusiastic in wanting to force the paving of Eighth. But there are three other councilmen. If the property owners fail to be bluffed, refuse to be frightened and bullied into voluntary contributions, will these three other city councilmen be willing to force an assessment district on a residence district in Carmel?

The Pine Cone wishes Mr. Vellisaratos no luck whatsoever.—W.C.

Hell Week...

Klaumann was electrified this week when two indignant college boys complained that they were being held up by their landlord. They'd rented a room for the week and when the landlord discovered that the room was accommodating eight sleeping bags with occupants, he charged them $2.00 extra per bag. The landlord maintained he'd rented the room to two boys, six more were not in the contract.—W.C.

Highway Officials Will Support Farr On Freeway Bill

Yesterday afternoon Planning Commissioner Herbert Blanks gave other commissioners a report on an earlier meeting that afternoon with Frank A. Chambers, Deputy Director of the State Department of Public Works, and Fred Bagshaw, Secretary of the State Highway Commission, when coast road freeway development below Carmel was discussed, with local representatives.

According to Mr. Blanks, the two state officials said that at no time had four-lane development been proposed in the state freeway system for Highway 1 below Carmel. An improved two-lane highway for this section of the coast road was planned by the state.

Last year, at a hearing in San Francisco, the two officials told the local group, someone from Monterey County requested the inclusion of the coast road in the state freeway system.

State plans called for no development of this section of Highway 1 until 1960, they added, then stated that their departments would not oppose Senator Fred Farr's bill in the legislature requesting removal from the state freeway plan of the coast road from Carmel to San Simeon. The officials also stated that they would help Senator Farr draft his bill for presentation, Mr. Blanks said.

Chambers and Bagshaw assured local representatives at the meeting that the Carmel Hill interchange is a one-way construction will be landscaped with natural vegetation and Monterey pines. Plans for this landscaping are in full operation, they said, with funds allocated for the work and more expected this fall. Before the planting begins, topsoil will be placed over the construction area.

Seethaler Monotypes On Exhibition At Jewelry Atelier

Monotypes of Karl Seethaler are on display at Kenneth Matthew's Jewelry Atelier at Sixth and Dolores Streets. Seethaler, president of the Long Beach Academy of Art, who was lecturing on liturgical art in the bay area last week end, stopped off to visit his parents-in-law, the Matthews, and agreed to the exhibition.

Seethaler was born in Austria in 1898, studied in Vienna, Bruenn and Budapest. He became a United States citizen in 1931, and since 1943 has been painting, teaching and lecturing in southern California. In 1946 he founded the Long Beach Academy of Art.

His work has been shown in many exhibitions, including the Arizona and California State Fairs and the Los Angeles County Museum. His one-man shows include: Palos Verdes Gallery, Palos Verdes Estates; Houghland Galleries, Hermosa Beach; Lucian Labaudt Art Gallery, San Francisco; Farnham Gallery, Balboa Island and Hilda Swerthe Gallery, Beverly Hills.

In Canada, he has had a one man show in Galerie Lefort, Montreal; in Germany, Innenbaukunst, Frankfurt am Main; in Austria, Konzerthaus, Vienna.

About 300 of Seethaler's paintings, drawings and wood sculptures are now in private collections in the United States, Europe and the far East.

A more comprehensive one-man show is being arranged in one of the Carmel galleries.
